

REMOTE WORK PULSE

Keep your remote employees connected, equipped and enabled

Support your workforce through major business disruption and keep teams thriving with a free, automated feedback solution developed by Qualtrics EmployeeXM IO Scientists.

CURRENT STATE

As individuals, teams, and entire companies shift to remote working during the COVID-19 outbreak, it's never been more important to check in with your people. Fast-paced changes can have serious implications on well-being, productivity, and the long-term health of the business if they're not addressed quickly.

THE PROBLEM

Organizations need a simple and easy way to continuously get feedback from their workforce and take needed actions to ensure their largest asset — their employees — are healthy, connected, and enabled.

A SOLUTION

Get started today with our Remote Work Pulse — a free, out-of-the-box feedback solution to help you understand employee needs and take action quickly during unique and challenging times.

What action, if any, could your immediate supervisor/manager take that would have the most impact on your efforts to adapt to organizational changes?

Two proven methods for checking in with your workforce

THE QUICK CHECK-IN

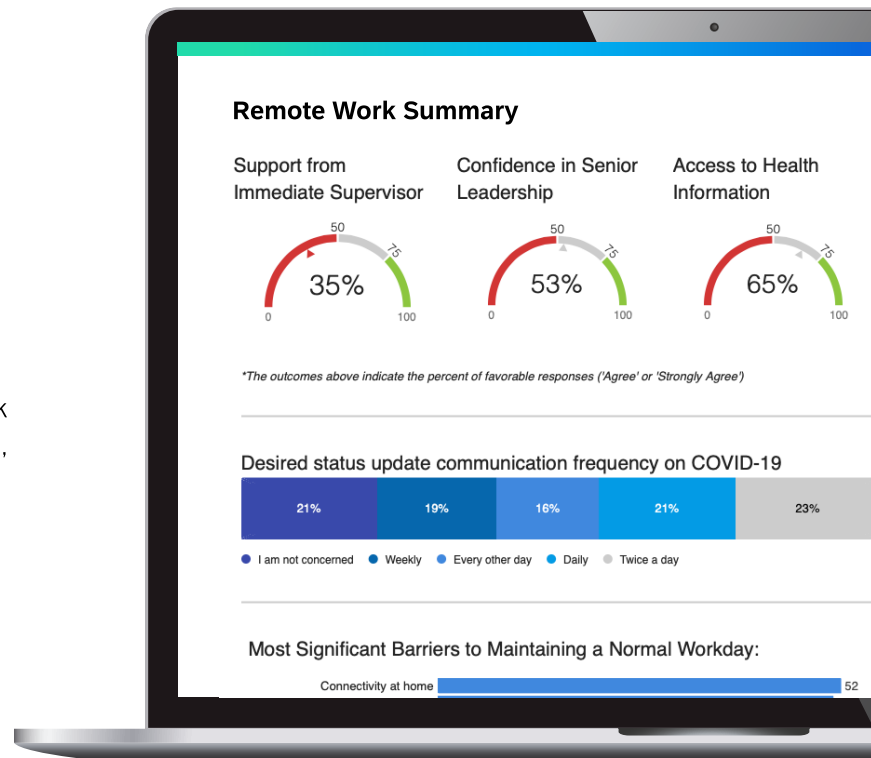

Pulse employees with a simple mood barometer to get a holistic view of morale and monitor trends through open-text feedback.

REMOTE WORK READINESS EVALUATION

Pulse employees to identify gaps and take action on up to five key areas surrounding the remote work experience: mindset, communication, collaboration, enablement, and serving customers.

Mitigate disruption to your people and your business

- + Quickly assess workforce morale and well-being
- + Understand employee readiness and needs as they adapt to new work environments
- + Prioritize actions to take in response — like improving communication or technology
- + Understand potential impacts to culture, productivity, and the longer-term business

The Remote Work Pulse XM Solution is provided free of charge to organizations of any size and industry across the globe.
